Continuing Professional Development/Graduate Studies Elective
On-Line Graduate Course

Program Evaluation for Occupational Therapists (occu 5043)

WINTER TERM, JANUARY - APRIL 2012
(13 WEEKS)

Want to learn how to plan more effective programs? Want new ideas and approaches for program design? Struggling with how to evaluate new or existing programs? Not sure your current evaluation methods are capturing what you want? Think a needs assessment might be useful in your practice?

Check out our Program Evaluation course! In this graduate course you will develop knowledge and skills for program design, planning and evaluation in a range of practice areas. You'll learn about key methods and issues, as well as evaluation phases. You'll develop your own evaluation framework and action plan for program design.

Come learn with us! This course is open to occupational therapists, health professionals, or any graduate student with an interest in program planning and evaluation.

This is a required course for Practice Leader students and an elective for Research Thesis students in the MSc (OT - Post-Professional) Program.
